

GUIDELINES TO AUTHORS

PHYTOMORPHOLOGY is published half-yearly by the International Society of Plant Morphologists (ISPM; henceforth referred as “the society”). The Journal publishes original research articles, invited reviews, etc., in all areas of Plant Sciences.

A. Article types: The following article types can be submitted for consideration

- Original research articles
- Short communications (upto 4-6 printed pages) / technical advances
- Reviews / Invited Reviews / Mini reviews (upto 4-6 printed pages)
- Opinion
- Commentary
- Meeting Reports
- Book reviews (By invitation only)

Potential authors can also submit an abstract of the article type (not listed above) to the editorial office to check for suitability of consideration.

Book Reviews:

Authors and publishers who wish to submit their publications for review in the Journal should submit two copies of the publication to the Editor at Delhi Office of ISPM.

The authors are required to pay Article Processing Charges (APC; see below for charges) upon acceptance of manuscript

B. Page limit: There is no maximum length of articles for Original research, Review and other articles, unless specified.

C. Preparation of Manuscripts:

The manuscripts should be prepared only in English, using MS-Word. Manuscripts should follow a standard page layout of A-4 size, minimum 2 cm margin on all the four sides, and double line spacing. The text should be carefully checked for typographical errors, especially numerals and diacritical marks in words from different languages. British spellings are preferred. However, there should be uniformity throughout the text.

The title page should comprise: the full title of the paper, initials and surname(s) of author(s), name of the laboratory where the work was carried out, and the address to which all correspondence concerning the manuscript should be made. Please add telephone (office and mobile) and e-mail address of the corresponding author. A short running title may be suggested by the authors. An Abstract should be placed before the Introduction. The abstract should include information on the question addressed, objectives, study area (as relevant), methods, results and major conclusions.

Up to eight keywords, not repeated from the title of the paper, should be placed after the Abstract. All acknowledgements should be put at the end, before References.

The main text of the paper should start from a new page. It should be reasonably subdivided into sections (Introduction, Material and methods, Results, Discussion and, if necessary, subsections. Pages and lines should be numbered Latin names of organisms (genera and species) are to be italicized. No word or phrase (except the standard conventional ones) should be abbreviated. However, if abbreviations are absolutely necessary, they should be placed in parentheses after the words/phrases when these appear first in the text.

Tables should be prepared on separate sheets and numbered consecutively. Each table should be provided with a short title. The basis for the nomenclature of taxa should be indicated in the Material and methods section. All diagrams, graphs and photographs should be referred to in the text as figure (Fig.), and numbered consecutively. Each figure should be provided a detailed legend and all legends should be compiled on a separate page. Avoid inserting figures in the main body of the text.

Only metric units (S.I. Units) should be used. Other units may be given in parentheses only if absolutely necessary. Abbreviations of units are same for the singular and plural, and are never followed by a period.

Greek letters and unusual symbols should be identified separately in the margin. Distinction should be made between confusing letters like letter O and zero (0); between the letter l, the number one and prime (N); between K and kappa.

References to literature should be given in the text by the author's name and year: e.g. Tansley (1935), Kavitha and Shivamurthy (2008), Gaumat et al. (2008) when forming part of a sentence and (Tansley, 1935; Kavitha & Shivamurthy, 2008; Gaumat et al., 2008) when forming an addition to a sentence. If a paper has three or more authors, then it should be referred to by the surname of the first author followed by et al. References at the end of the paper should list, in alphabetical order under the first author's name, all works referred to in the text. These should include the names of all authors/ editors, full title of the paper, unabbreviated title of the journals, and the name and place of the publisher, and total number of pages in case of books, collective volumes and Proceedings.

If Figures are prepared by Hand

Line drawings should be drawn in India ink only. All inscriptions should be large enough to stand sufficient reduction. Scan them at a high resolution (at least 600 DPI) and save as graphic files (JPG, TIFF, PIC, EPS, PNG formats only).

If Figures are Prepared on Computer

Save figures individually as graphic files (JPG, TIFF, PIC, EPS, PNG formats only) and at least 600 DPI. Original graphics files may be sent to the printer for reformatting them to ensure good reproduction. Photographs should be submitted as JPG files only.

Naming Text and Graphic Files

Files submitted (word processing graphic files) should be named such that they can be readily identified with the author(s) and/or title of the paper. Names such as text.doc, paper.doc or figure.jpg are NOT acceptable.

Avoid inserting figures, tables and graphs in the main body of the text.

Submission

Manuscripts and other material intended for publication in PHYTOMORPHOLOGY are to be submitted electronically to phytomorphology@gmail.com. The data and opinions appearing in the article are the sole responsibility of the concerned author (s). Accordingly, the Publisher, the Editorial Board and the Editor accept no responsibility or liability what so ever for the consequences of any such inaccurate, misleading or copied data, opinion or statement, and no corrigendum in such case will be published in the Journal.

Authors who are submitting their illustrations in colour should specify that they wish to publish colour plates if accepted and willing to pay the costs as applicable. Authors who are not willing to pay the colour plate charges should supply high contrast black and white illustrations only with their manuscripts. All copyright issues should be taken care by the authors before submitting the manuscripts.

Authors need to submit two author declaration forms, Form 1/A with author details, declaration of originality and plagiarism are to be submitted along with the manuscript. Form 2/B is to be submitted after acceptance of manuscript.

Proofs and Reprints

Page proofs of the accepted manuscripts are sent as PDF file(s) only to the corresponding author by e-mail. The corrections should be communicated to the Editor without delay. Alterations in the proofs, other than those necessitated by the printer's errors, should be kept to the minimum. There are no gratis reprints. Additional reprints requirement (on chargeable basis), in multiples of 50, should be specified while returning the corrected page proofs and reprint order form to the Editor.

Miscellaneous

Manuscripts and Figures submitted are NOT returned. The copyright of published papers is vested with the publisher but authors are encouraged to deposit the final, copy-edited, published version on electronic repositories such as Institutional webpages, ResearchGate etc purely for academic purposes. The authors of accepted contributions will be asked to formally sign an agreement to transfer the copyright to the publisher (ISPM) and the copyright transfer form is available for download.
